Staff

The PORTAL has been produced not by a staff in the usual sense of the word but by the efforts of nearly every member of the Senior Class. Here we give credit to those who have worked the hardest and the longest to make it what it is.

CLASS

Remember in the first grade at Mechanic Street School when Alice Miller and her boy friend, Bruce Parker, skipped school at recess and walked seven miles home???

In the first and second grade, Mary Moriarty used to take great delight in beating up R. Mozar and Rick Kibbe and preventing them from getting home from school on time.

Doris St. Marie always was so tall and June Heintz so short. Doris always used to say to June that she would never catch up with her. Things have proved to be different!

Jean Ungewitter used to have long corkscrew curls. What ever happened to them??

Remember in the third grade when two girls rubbed poison ivy on themselves because they had never had it before. They got it!!

Do you remember when Richard Buhell pushed Barbara Finnerty into the wastebasket in fourth grade because she kicked him? Poor Barbara had to stand at at a 45-degree angle until the teacher returned to the room and freed her.

In the fifth grade Roger Haley gave all his girlfriends a charm bracelet.

Remember in the fifth grade when Laura Sutcliffe and Rick Kibbe were a steady couple? How things have changed!.

In the fifth grade Joyce Scott really looked odd walking around with chewing gum stuck on the end of her nose. Joyce, you should know better than to chew gum in school.

Remember when Janeth Granger caught scarlet fever in the fifth grade and lost all her beautiful curls? When she returned to school she had only a little "baby fuzz" left on top.

How many girls remember Dickie Elmer and his mirror in the fifth grade?

Remember in the sixth grade when Sylvia Underwood and Peggy Rivard had a fist fight over Donald Boudreau?

Pat Siegel, Lucille Pierce and Peggy Rivard were always serenading the class with "Quicksilver".

HISTORY

In the sixth grade when Howard Case first came to school, June Heintz and June Lynch used to fight over him; June Heintz had the advantage because she sat right behind him.

Students found great delight in getting Mr. Mullaly so nervous that he didn't know whether he was coming or going.

Mr. Baxter, as supervisor, produced a play written by Ed Harvey and Jimmy Hadley for the Magazine Party. The play was titled "Katzenjammer Kids." It was a flop. Everyone was laughing at us instead of with us.

P. Siegel and J. Ungewitter were bluntly told where the door was and how to use it by Miss Hynes during a science period in the seventh grade.

Gordon Moore was always finding ways to aggravate Miss Sutcliffe. Someone was always changing his desk drawer or mistaking it for their own, so finally he took it down to Mr. Weldon's room and nailed his initials on it. They're still there. This all took place in the ninth grade.

Remember in our Freshman class play, "Murder in the Family," when Barbara Finnerty fainted and Howard Case picked her up--but alas! he banged her head on the partition and almost knocked the whole staging down!

The Freshman Initiation really brought us into high school. We can still experience the garlic smell after eating so much garlic and onions. It lasted all day. At night we had to perform stunts of various sorts.

We had a project writing to boys in the service that had graduated from Monson High School. Many of the girls received replies with serious intentions behind them. The girls were only in the tenth grade, too

Remember the time the punch was left standing in the cafeteria all summer and made a hole in the can? Pat Siegel had to scrub the pan in September.

Bill Mullaly really looked sharp at the Junior Prom; he even had his hair parted in the middle.

One Monday morning the high school was full of bats. We understand the Explorer Scouts had been on a speleological expedition over the weekend. Eddie and Bruce, are you still Scouts?

Remember last year when Mr. Lewis was infuriated with one of the students and went to slam the door--he hadn't planned it, but his fury turned to laughter when his tie got caught and nearly choked him.

Remember in our Junior year while preparing for the Prom, Gordy Moore, Roger Haley, and Ralph Letendre went all the way to West Springfield for a fish net and had high hopes of getting it--but alas! no fish net. "Now don't give up," said the proprietor, "you can get one if you go to Boston."

It seems the first and only time we've seen Donald Ingraham with a girl was after the one-act plays last year. In the company of Miss Susan Braskie.

Remember when Leonard Meurisse painted the scene for the Junior Prom in his cellar and found it too big to be moved through the doorway? After all that work, too!

Do you remember the night Estelle Lavigne took Roger's car to the basketball game? Well, she parked in Mr. Holley's place and then didn't want to stay there, so instead of backing out in the road, she plowed through the grass and came to a crashing halt just outside of the tennis courts.

Frank Santucci, how could anyone knowingly smash into his own car? Didn't you know Gordy's car didn't have any brakes?

It seems Ralph Letendre is our only boy who has been varsity material since his Freshman year. He's done real well for the squad.

Gordon Moore was blushing deeply at the Christmas Party as a result of the mistletoe.

PROPHECY

The Seniors are now leaving behind them their high school experiences, and casting uncertain glances toward the future. People say the future is what you make it. What person would begrudge us a little peek into the unknown, about twenty years from now? What will we see?

Janeth Granger--Jan is now a purchasing agent for W. T. Grant Company.

Joseph Richard--Joe is a Naval aerial photographer, mapping a newly-discovered volcanic island in the Pacific.

Ruth Mozar--Ruthie demonstrates Max Factor cosmetics on her own TV program.

Edward Harvey--Eddie is now the district manager for the A & P. In his spare time he draws a combination cartoon strip of Steve Canyon and Li'l Abner.

Alice Miller--Alice is the Vocational Counselor for Monson High.

Joan LaVallee--Joan develops new recipes for the Peter Paul Candy Company.

June Heintz--June teaches a course in Proper Telephone Personality at Drake's Business School in New York City.

Barbara Finnerty--Barb is now a policewoman directing little children across the street at the corner of State and Main in Springfield.

June Lynch--Today June enrolled her sixth son in Monson Academy.

Donald Boudreau--Don was recently elected Sixth Vice President of the N.R.B.A. (National Rod-Burners Association.)

Robert Case--Rob is bringing in oil wells on his property on West Tilden Hill Road.

Jane Furgal--Jane is now the bookkeeper for Robert Case's prosperous oil business.

Estelle Lavigne--Estelle is a commissioned officer in the Waves and is married to a Lieutenant Commander in the Navy.

Doris St. Marie--Dore has been chosen Mother of the Year for 1974, and is angling for Grandmother of the Year in 1994.

Howard Case--Howie has just completed his book on Comparative Veterinary Anatomy and received a Doctor of Philosophy degree from the University of Massachusetts.

Laura Sutcliffe--"Sue is Bridal Counselor for Nicky's Department Store"

Margaret Rivard--Peggy got a start in pictures as Fred Astaire's last dancing partner, but her husband made her give it up.

Donald Ingraham--Don has just passed the test for a ham operator's license; he has his own station with the call letters WMONK.

Kathleen Murphy--Kathy wrote the French version of "Gone With the Wind"---"Alle Avec Le Vent".

Barbara Young--Barb is advisor to the governor on servicemen's problems (her brother, you know!)

Sylvia Underwood--Sis is the dancing part of the Old Gold Cigarette Box Girl on TV.

Frank Santucci--Gino has sold the one-millionth platter of "Bye-Bye Blues", recorded by his own band.

Jean Ungewitter--Jeanne never goes out of the house. She developed an extreme sensitivity to sunshine since her unfortunate experience at New London in June, 1953.

Ralph Letendre--Frog is now the President's special envoy to French Morocco.

Patricia Siegel--Pat, a prominent fashion expert, has started the revival of frilled shirts for men and high-button shoes for the ladies.

Marjorie Poulin--Marge is still sorting candy bars up in the back corner of the Senior Room, trying to pay off the bill for our Washington trip.

Muriel Monaghan--Muriel is testing close-range bullet-proof vests for the F.B.I.

Donald Petry--Don is an all-night disc jockey. His principal complaint is that it's lonesome.

Susan Tibbetts--Sue gave up a nursing career after she inherited a $500,000 fortune from her last victim.

Gordon Moore- Gordie is now engaged in research to prove that Shakespeare wrote Bacon's Essays.

Joyce Scott--Joyce has thrown thousands of cups and saucers into the air in her part as the maid in the revival of "Blithe Spirit", which started twenty years ago.

Susan Braskie--Sue, the leading hair stylist for Helena Rubenstein, has just invented a new hairdo called the Cocker Curl.

Leonard Meurisse--Len is working for the U.S. Treasury Department. At present he is making the engraving for the new three-dollar bill.

William Mullaly--Bill has coached several Olympic pole-vaulting champions since he has been with the University of California.

Thomas Aliegena--Tommy has spent the last twenty years digging a trench single-handed for the new Monson sewer system.

Bruce Robinson--Parrot hasn't been seen or heard of since he crawled under the hood of his brand new 1954 Lincoln convertible the day after graduation.
